BUDDING FLY FISHING WRITERS

Here is your chance to gain some experience writing about your fabulous fly fishing trips to places near and far. The club newsletter is seriously lacking in members written and photographic accounts of our fishouts. Of course you may not think a trip to Putah Creek is worthy of such notoriety, but remember, many members have never been there and would welcome a description of how your fishout went. And as for a trip to Alaska or Baja, a story of your adventure would be most appreciated. Send articles to the editor

NOTE FROM TREASURER, BILL PEAKES – Mission Peak Fly Angler's patches and pins are available from Bill at a nominal price. New members should have received either a pin or a patch when they joined; if not, call Bill Peakes.

The President's Message

After some prodding and nudging on Doug Fear's part (for how many years Doug?) the Northern California Council Federation of Fly Fishers (NCCFFF) finally recognized the club newsletter and email alerts for the Communications Award. The tough part was locating the application, which we thought was supposed to be mailed out. Come to find out, it is on the NCCFFF website, but who goes there anyway? When it was noticed that time was running out, the application was filled out, and sent in accompanied by three of the club's newsletters, along with Fly Tying announcements and some of Larry Dennis' email alerts related to conservation and water issues. An application for Education Outreach was also applied for with the clubs' efforts in Trout in the Classroom, the Boy Scout Fly Fishing Merit Badge, and quarterly "Intro to Fly Fishing" classes at the Silliman Center. One out of two is not bad. My apologies to Doug for not doing it sooner, but good things happen to those that wait. Congratulations to all that were instrumental in being recognized for the award- Doug Fear and Malcolm Dunn for their newsletter editorship, Larry Dennis for Conservation Alerts and Gene Kaczmerak and Doug Fear for keeping the club on top of NCCFFF and national Federation issues. Thank you all for taking on the thankless task of keeping the club abreast with current issues.

Craig Gittings

Mission Peak Fly Anglers Board Meeting – OCTOBER 1, 2008

President Craig Gittings brought the meeting to order at 6:55pm. Present were VP Wayne Culp, Treasurer Bill Peakes, Secretary Dean Lewis, Past President Malcolm Dunn, Board Members Doug Fear, Harold Whitmore and Ray Gauthier and Committee Chair Stephen Culp.

Old Business:

501c(3): Stephen Culp is still trying to get copies of other clubs application for when they applied. Tracy club has been slow to respond.

Election Committee: We discussed the coming election with the Board acting as the committee. Bill and Dean indicated they would continue with their positions. Malcolm indicated he would be available for one of the Director positions and Stephen Culp indicated he would be available for the other one. Ray indicated he would consider the VP position. That leaves someone needed for the President position.

Letter Writing: Stephen will start sending out letters for the January Installation dinner donations. We discussed if we need any materials from “Crystal Springs” for the raffle. Craig and Doug indicated they will go out and see what he still has for sale.

New Business:

Treasurer’s Report: Bill reported that we are healthy.

Name Tags: Dean made up sample name tags for use at the last general meeting. The Board liked them and Craig moved and Doug seconded that Dean make the expenditures to create laminated name badges with clip on fasteners. He will be reimbursed for his costs. Motion passed.

Programs: Rich Lobrovich has Ron Rabun on fishing Christmas Island bonefish for the October meeting and Bill Peakes will make a “Trout Bum” presentation in November..

Fly Tying: Doug Fear is tying in October and George or Mitch in November. Dean will make a short presentation in October for the Fukumoto award. The Board also voted on making sure that the club purchased the dinner for the guest doing the tying. Doug moved, Ray seconded and the motion passed.

NCCFFF: The club will not have a table at the Lodi conclave. All registrations need to go in together to get a table, however, Doug will be grabbing tables for our club members.

Fishouts: Jeff Lorelli is going the first of October on his annual Eastern Sierra Trips.

December Fly Tying: The December meeting will be for all members and will be a Sale/Trade/or Give Away session where members can come and attempt to find home for stuff they no longer want, need or have room for. Start getting your stuff together for this fun session.

Elections: Board members had a lengthy discussion on “how to get more members involved with becoming officers or committee chairman”. No workable ideas or motions came out of the discussion.

Annual Dinner: Our Reservations are confirmed. Dinner will be $35 per person.

Tie Along: Ken Hanley will be tying his furred flies at a tie along on March 21. $15 per person limited to 8 persons. Harold is getting the room.

Tying Videos: Doug moved and Craig seconded that we reimburse Ray for copies and expenses of the fly tying videos he is recording on Fly Tying night. Motion passed.

Meeting adjourned at 7:45

Respectively submitted, Dean Lewis, Secretary.

OCTOBER PROGRAM

I created this program for the fly angler who has never fished for Bonefish or has become a Bonefish addict like myself. My program is not represented by any fly shop or travel service but is just being presented by another angler like you. I'll discuss the intrigue; world Bonefish locations; places to go; techniques; gear; flies; costs related to locations; other fishes to catch; finally, how this all enters your bloodstream.

We will travel to Christmas Island atoll, probably the first stop for any first time Bonefish angler; Los Roques, Venezuela, a popular destination and unique archipelago; then, Aitutaki Island Manuae atolls of the Cook and unique archipelago; then, Aitutaki Island Manuae atolls of the Cook Islands, where Bonefish are large but extremely difficult with the potential of catching a world record (38 inch, 16 lb+) on the fly rod

Ron Rabun

About the Presenter:

A lifelong resident of California, Ron Rabun has been fly fishing Northern California waters for over 33 years. During this time, the Shasta Area has been home waters to his trout fishing. After 18 years of docent fly fishing education and clinics, Ron began guiding professionally in 1994. Ron can be found tying at the International Sportsman's Expositions and Federation of Fly Fishers conclaves and events in Northern California. Ron has been an active participant as a Director and Conclave organizer with the Northern California Council Federation of Fly Fishers since 1980. Articles written on Ron's specialty approach to Short Line Nymphing have appeared in both California and English fly fishing publications.

Although, his prowess for trout angling has extended throughout the West, British Columbia and Alaska, his angling has extended to salt water angling in Mexico, Hawaii, Christmas Island, Venesuela, Cook Islands, Coastal California and the Osa Peninsula of Southern Costa Rica. Over a Coastal California and the Osa Peninsula of Southern Costa Rica. Over a three year period, Ron has spent 12 weeks fly fishing for the large Bonefish located in the Cook Islands.

PROJECT HEALING WATERSAttention Mission Peak Members PROJECT HEALING WATERS

Who among you would like to join me and be part of helping our veterans through this worthwhile program?

What you might ask is involved? It can be as little as a group of us going out to Livermore and and/or Palo Alto once a month to teach fly casting and fly tying to our wounded veterans. It could go as far as accompanying a group of veterans on a fishing trip to be their 'gillie' and personal assistant on that trip.

I have made the initial contact at Livermore VA Nursing unit and their seems to be an interest, but I cannot do it alone.

I'd bet we can get funding help from the FFF, NCCFFF, the Elks Lodge, Kiwanis, VFW, and other service organizations, all we need to do is give a little of our own time to those who have given so much for us.

If interested please contact me, Thanks

Ken Brunskill .

This month's newsletter has a new column called "Tips and Ideas" . If any member have any tips or ideas that they want to share with others, this is the place to do it.

The "Recipes" column is also another place to share your favorite recipes. This month's recipe is from Venna Ramicone. Her corn chowder was a big hit at the Clark's Fork fishout and potluck dinner; just ask Don Lee. Next month's recipe will be "Pasta and Tagioli" by Merlin Johnson.

Our club was well represented at the Northern California Council Federation of Fly Fishers (NCCFFF) that took place in Lodi, CA. Doug Fear was the co-chairman of the fly tying event and he had a large staff to make his job a success.

The actual dates of wintertime fishouts are highly dependent upon the weather conditions and will be confirmed by the fishmaster the week of the fishout.

Your ideas for fishout locations are always welcomed by the club. Phone Jeff Lorelli to volunteer as a fishmaster. The qualifications for a fishmaster are that you have a place in mind, know how to get there, and would welcome some fishing companions. That is it, so sign up now!

TIPS AND IDEAS

FLY FISHING AIDS AND REMEDIES

By Calvin Chin

After responding correctly to a sipping or nibbling trout by not jerking to set the hook, you feel ready for the next move. How do you know? Well, you will within a few seconds feel short pulls or will realize that the hook has come out. When you feel the pulling, you can start to play or retrieve this fish by reeling in.

A good way to reel in without adding undue tension is by using the parallel-to-the-water approach; that is, holding the rod sideway parallel to the water while reeling in toward your bank or beach. Do not hold the rod tip high, as you will be lifting the fish and thus adding its weight to the resistance. If the fish were lip-hooked you would risk a rip-off.

Now, to land the fish without a net, maneuver it toward the bank or beach, maintaining the parallel rod position steady and smooth but with firm tension. In a give and take battle, reel and pull your catch up onto the beach, still maintaining the parallel rod. Even a very heavy fish can be pulled far up the beach by this pressure; as it lies sideways on the slope, each flip it makes it will inch him up a little bit farther up onto the beach.

Many a large fish has been lost during this last critical moment of its landing. What with nicks in the monofilament leader, lip hooking, and underwater rocks, you need all the help you can get.

RECIPES

VENNA'S CORN

1 LB bacon
 3 cans cream corn
 1 large onion, chopped
 4 to 6 large potatoes, diced
 4 cups whole milk
 Salt & pepper to taste

Crisp fry the bacon, & remove to paper towels to absorb extra fat. Add onion to some of the bacon drippings and fry for a few minutes, then add the potatoes & crumbled bacon. Simmer in 1 to 1 1/2 cups water for about 1/2 hour, until potatoes are firmly cooked. Add the milk and simmer on low, stirring occasionally, for about another 1/2 hour. Thicken as desired with flour, corn starch, or arrowroot.

NOTE: For thickener I like to take out some of the potatoes, mash them and put them back into the chowder.

ENJOY!!

Conservation News

Larry Dennis, October 2008

"I fish because I love to. Because I love the environs where trout are found. Which are in every way beautiful. Because, in a world where most men seem to spend their lives doing things they hate, my fishing, is a one and endless source of delight, and an act of small rebellion. Because, I suspect that men are going along this way for the last time. And I for one don't want to waste the trip. Because, only in the woods can I find solitude without loneliness. Because, bourbon out of and old tin cup always taste better out there.

Because, maybe one day I would catch a mermaid. And finally, not because I regard fishing as been so terribly important, but because I suspect that so many of the other concerns of men are equally unimportant and not nearly so much fun."

--Mel Krieger (RIP)

2009 Salmon Season Outlook

Most of the fall run salmon have now returned from the ocean to the Sacramento River and its tributaries. The news is mixed but is mainly bad for a 2009 fishing season. At the end of September, 2,700 fall run salmon had passed through the weir counter at the entrance to Battle Creek in the upper Sacramento River. Last year at the same date 6,500 had passed and as recently as 2003, 25,000 had passed. Hopefully, the run is just late but the figures are disturbing particularly since there was no fishing season this year. Jack counts are also low. As of October 6th, Coleman hatchery had 3,000 fish in its holding pond. They will immediately start spawning these fish. Coleman needs approximately 10,000 fish to make its egg quota. More data on the final run size will be available by the end of October.

Salmon Fishery Groups Meet with the National Marine Fishery Service

In September, recreational and commercial fishery groups met with leaders of the National Marine Fishery Service (NMFS) in Sacramento to discuss the California salmon crisis and actions the agency is taking to restore the salmon and steelhead runs. The stakeholder group included commercial and recreational fishermen, fishery conservation groups and fishing businesses. They represented over 250,000 fishermen and supporters and over 1,000 businesses with a California economic contribution of over $1 billion.

NMFS has the federal authority and responsibility to protect and recover all marine species that are listed under the Endangered Species Act. It is the agency that has the most authority to protect endangered salmon and steelhead. It has failed to do this in the last several years and the federal court has rejected their biological opinions on delta pumping as inadequate to protect salmon. Pumping has been reduced and NMFS has been ordered to produce new biological opinions. In addition, the agency has the responsibility to produce a salmon recovery plan. These opinions and plans were the subject of the meeting.

Following the NMFS presentations, a number of the fishery participants expressed serious concerns that the agency's actions would be too little and too late to restore the salmon runs. The stakeholders requested several actions by the agency.

1. Adopt the salmon doubling goals required by state and federal law and lay plans to achieve them. In salmon production terms, doubling means laying plans that will allow 15 to 20 million pounds of commercial catch along with a parallel recreational catch.
2. Change their current salmon recovery project list to a full plan with priorities and steps along with a financing proposal that the stakeholders can support.
3. Focus more on the real causes of the decline. Set plans that will reduce the amount of water taken out of the delta and reduce its pollution.
4. Improve enforcement of illegal water movements and diversions.
5. Stop focusing on compromises and bring the agency's full focus on the needs of fish. Use the unique position of the agency and its bully pulpit ability to get positive results for fish.

Mr. Rod McInnis, the Regional Director for NMFS responded to each of these requests and indicated the agency will try to be responsive within the limits of its authority. A follow up meeting will be held in December.

Please Help, We Are Gaining but Need More Angler Support

Thank you for your Water4Fish support. 62,000 supporters have already gone on line at Water4Fish and asked for water policy changes but we need thousands more before we can move the political needle firmly in our direction. Unfortunately, fish in California continue to get the short end of the stick in water policy decisions. The drought and the emergency water declarations by the Governor are taking a huge toll on the runs of salmon, steelhead and striped bass. In the past year, almost nothing positive has taken place that will help these species recover other than court actions. We are being ignored by the Governor, the Legislature and the Bush Administration. Water4Fish is the only place where all fishermen and supporters can unite to demand change. Please ask your friends and associates to go online to www.water4fish.org and send letters to the politicians and give us their proxy as a constituent. Forward this email to others or send an email toaction@water4fish.org and ask us to send you one of our email flyers you can then forward to others.

Thanks for your continuing support
